PROTEST LIVESTOCK ROAMING HIGHWAYS

Practice in some parts of the country of allowing livestock to roam the highways has met with strong condemnation on the part of motor organizations when discussing this problem at their annual meetings.

Some time ago, this matter was the subject when strong representations were made to the government of this province by the Alberta Motor Association. Undoubtedly the improvement in conditions through the enforcement of laws and regulations by municipal authorities resulted to a great extent from the A.M.A. protests.

Nevertheless, there still are districts in this province where livestock roam the highways at will, constituting a danger to life and property on the highways. This is a condition that should be remedied without delay, in the opinion of officials of the A.M.A.

Attention to general conditions south of the border was drawn at the annual meeting of the American Automobile Association, which passed a resolution urging its affiliated clubs and state associations to conduct vigorous campaigns to end the menace of livestock being at large on the highways.

SCIENTIST RAPS

PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Manchester, England.—Sir Daniel Hall, former chief scientific adviser to Britain's ministry of agriculture, took a crack at the old school tie and advocated a lower school-leaving age when he addressed the Old Mancunians Association at Manchester Grammar School.

"What I have against the public school spirit is its subservience to good form," he said. (Public schools in Britain correspond to Canadian private schools).

The boy who attended a preparatory school and then a public school hardly came into touch with any other class than his own, but other boys became conscious of the everyday life of people at large, Sir Daniel contended.

"I want to see boys made to leave school earlier," he declared. "I believe that the effort of our public schools to retain boys to 18 or so is responsible for that prolonged childhood which is so characteristic of the English governing class."

He suggested segregation at about the age of 14 of intellectuals and boys whose formal education by books would remain negligible.

Brooks has been chosen as site for a livestock feed processing plant.

GREGORI GARBOVITSKY

Gregori Garbovitsky, conductor of the Calgary Symphony orchestra, which will be heard again on C.B.C. networks Wednesday, January 18th, from 8:00-9:00 p.m., M.S.T. Exiled from Russia during the troubled days of revolution, Mr. Garbovitsky has made his home in Calgary for many years.

BRITISH COUNCIL FOUNDS SCHOLARSHIPS

University of Alberta has been notified by the British Council that four new post-graduate scholarships have been founded by the Council. These scholarships, of the value of $300, are tenable for one year beginning in October, 1939, and are open to selected graduates of the Universities of the British Dominions overseas. They have been established with a view to assist graduate students who are following courses of study or research in subjects of social, economic, or political value and which may be regarded as of Dominion, intra-Imperial or international importance. The study or research concerned must be carried on in the United Kingdom. Applications looking to a preliminary selection of candidates should be made not later than the 1st of April next to the administrative head of the applicant's own university. Subsequently, applications will be sifted under the auspices of the National Conference of Canadian Universities, the Secretary of which is Dean K. P. R. Neville of the University of Western Ontario, London, Ont. The final selection will be made from Canada as soon as possible after the first of April. Forms of application and further information may be had from the office of the Registrar of the University of Alberta.

TALENTED CAGLARY MUSICIANS COMING

Miss Joyce Hackett, L.R.S.M., A.T.C.M., pianoforte, and Miss Helen Rossam, pianist and elocutionist, will be visiting Blairstown on Monday, January 23rd, under auspices of the Coleman Salvation Army Corps, when they will give a recital in the Sartoris hall at 8 p.m.

Dr. C. Rose, of Coleman, will preside as chairman.

The visiting artists are members of the Calgary Salvation Army Citadel, and have given frequent recitals at many points in Alberta. Miss Hackett, besides having attained to her musical degrees, has received thirteen certificates for successful examinations, and at the age of 13 won the silver medal for second highest marks in Canada.

The recital promises to be outstanding interest to Pass musicians, and all those wishing to attend will please communicate with Capt. F. Hewitt, or phone 310 to reserve tickets.

WOULD BAN OLD CARS

Members of the Garage Operators' Association on Ontario are united in the desire to restrict the granting of licenses to "jalopies which should be off the road."

This fact was emphasized by H. W. Harper, president, when speaking before automobile executives recently. The occasion was a "clinic luncheon" tendered by General Motors Products of Canada, Limited.

Mr. Harper pointed out that his association whole-heartedly endorsed the efforts of the Safety League, General Motors and other organizations to promote greater safety on the highways.

"We want to restrict cars from going to the wrecking shop and being returned to the highway," he said. "If this were done there would not be so many wrecks on the road and so many people killed."

Mr. Harper also strongly urged that legislation be enacted which would eliminate the possibility of licenses being granted to men who were not experienced mechanics. He pointed out that many men who were only "experimenters" were being allowed to service automobiles.

Since its organization fourteen years ago by a small group of four men, the Garage Operators' Association, he pointed out, had followed the practice of training apprentices, and they had now 8,000 certified men throughout the province.

N. H. Daniel, General Service Manager, General Motors Products of Canada, Ltd., who presided, congratulated the association upon its progress and assured the members of the whole-hearted support of General Motors.

LOCAL STUDENTS FIGURE IN LO.D.E. AWARDS

When at the close of the Great War the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire set aside some $200,000 for overseas scholarships as a memorial to the Canadian boys who had died fighting, they built a monument more enduring than granite.

Half a million dollars was the total of the sum raised for educational purposes, and of this $200,000 was taken as the principal of a fund for a perpetual war memorial to send one student from each province for a year's study abroad. Scholarships are valued at $1,000, and applicants must have some post graduate work accomplished before they are eligible. The rest of the money was used for matriculation bursaries to help the sons and daughters of men who were killed overseas. Two of these were given in each province up until last year, when the fund was exhausted.

The I.O.D.E. has reason to be proud of the record of its Alberta overseas scholarship winners. As a matter of interest to the public a list of the scholarship winners in this province has been compiled, together with their qualifications and present occupations and places of residence.

PLAN BIG HIGHWAY PROGRAM FOR 1933

Alberta is to experience the greatest amount of road progress this year ever seen in the history of this province, according to a recent statement by Hon. W. A. Fallow, minister of public works.

While the annual expenditures of this department will not be known until passed by the provincial legislature at the session which opens on Feb. 9, it is believed that there will be large votes for road improvements this year.

The department is pressing ahead with its "black top" or hard surfacing of main highways and plans to complete an extensive mileage this year. This program will include surfacing of the 65-mile stretch between Red Deer and Crossfield, which was reconstructed last year at an estimated cost of $350,000. When this link is completed, there will be a hard surfaced main road from Edmonton to the international boundary. This year's program also is to include surfacing of the Jasper highway, on which reconstruction was begun in the fall of 1938.

Officials of the Alberta Motor Association have been assured by the Minister of Public Works that it is his firm intention to undertake extensive road work this year.

In addition, the province is negotiating with Ottawa over a joint scheme to build a winter road from Fort Vermilion to Hay River on Great Slave lake, at an estimated cost of $200,000, to serve the Yellowknife mining field.

Miss Isabel A. E. Lloyd, well known war nurse and matron in charge of Ferme hospital during the disastrous fire of 1906, died in Winnipeg on January the 1st. She was a nursing sister overseas from 1916 until the end of the war.

SPEECHES ARE TO BE LIMITED ON THE ROYAL TOUR

Ottawa.—During their tour of Canada next May and June the King and Queen are not to be expected to listen to addresses of welcome except in Ottawa or provincial capitals, Prime Minister Mackenzie King announced.

In a statement containing further details of the royal visit the prime minister said that in no case were Their Majesties to be expected to review orally any addresses.

Except for the day of Their Majesties' arrival in Quebec May 15, there must be no more than one official meal-time gathering, a luncheon or dinner, in any one day. At Quebec there will be a luncheon given by the federal government and a dinner by the provincial government.

Their Majesties are not to be asked to accept degrees from any universities nor to accept invitations from private individuals, private corporations or individuals. No private hospitality will be accepted at any point in the tour.

No visits will be made to any educational or charitable institutions nor to any industrial plants.

Several speeches are expected to be delivered by the King and Queen while they are in Canada and all will be broadcast, the prime minister said, but details are not yet ready for announcement.

It was desirable all local arrangements be in the hands of the secretary of the inter-departmental committee by March 1, the prime minister said, since all details must be submitted for approval of Their Majesties.

With respect to restrictions on official entertainment it will be necessary for the lieutenant-governor and his advisers in each provincial capital to decide whether the official luncheon or dinner would be given by either the lieutenant-governor or provincial government or both combined.

Municipalities desiring to present addresses of welcome will be permitted to pass them to a designated member of Their Majesties' party and to have them published in the newspapers, but with the possible exception of capital cities, none will be listened to by the King and Queen.

Special provisions are requested by the prime minister to afford children and war veterans opportunities to see the King and Queen.

In arranging processions through provincial capitals calls will be made at legislative buildings and city halls, the stops to be made in order of convenience according to the route of the procession.

Responsibility for protection of Their Majesties will rest upon the commissioner and officers of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, who will seek co-operation of provincial and municipal police.

The visit of Their Majesties being that of the King and Queen to the people of Canada, the latter will, if necessary, be represented on public occasions by their duly elected or officially appointed representatives.

The responsibility for defending federal buildings, which are located throughout the continent, will be assumed by the federal authorities. The federal government will also assume responsibility for state functions at the capital.

Provincial and municipal authorities will be expected to make appropriate provision for the decoration of other public buildings and of streets, as well as accommodation for the viewing of processions and for public receptions in the localities to be visited.

Special attention is being given by the committee in charge to the procedure to be followed at stations through which the royal train will pass or at which short stops are contemplated.

Find Miners' Bodies

Kirkland Lake, Ont.—The crushed and broken bodies of John Holubec and Vito Vlasic were removed from their rock tomb a half-mile underground in the Lake Shore mine by rescue crews which had worked unceasingly for eight days.

Viste Nickel Belt

Sudbury.—Thirty-one Afrikanders from the University of Witwatersrand in Johannesburg, South Africa, near the mighty Rand goldfields, will visit the Dominion's nickel belt here. They will later leave for the west.

Work For G.P.R. Employees

Winnipeg.—Canadian Pacific Railway officials announced 350 men would return to work in the Weston shops here. It is expected the men will be given five months' employment reconditioning cars and coaches.

Disturbing Factor

Threat To Canadian Well-Being In Loss Of Morale

Ottawa.—It is possible the threat to Canadian well-being "now lies not so largely in the actual sag in employment which we are facing but in the let-down of spirit and morale of the country as a whole," the Canadian Welfare Council reported.

In its preliminary analysis of the outlook in unemployment and general dependency, the council said the most disturbing factor in the present situation is the realization that by the end of next March Canada will have spent in nine years about $900,000,000 on direct aid, works and projects for relief of unemployment and agricultural distress.

"At the end of that time Canada will have more dependents on public funds voted for this purpose than when it began the whole period.

The council's survey was built on returns from 210 public or voluntary social agencies and representative citizens across the Dominion.

"The discouraging fact is, that after all these years, in part because of the clashing jurisdiction of the Dominion and its provinces, Canada still lacks long-term legislation, comprehensive planning, and any integrated and adequate program for a fundamental attack upon the serious national ills which have occasioned these heavy expenditures.

"In all, a weary country and a disillusioned people have been in a mood of drift, but there are signs to a great extent that the time has come when the attack must be basic, and much more than merely a matter of this or that relief policy or the relative allocation of funds and costs among the different units of government.

"The task of 1938 is to renew in the Canadian people their old-time drive, to convince them that even at its worst democracy alone accords with the instinct of freedom in our face and as such is abundantly worth saving."

New Jap Cabinet

Dictator Premier Takes Over Reins

Tokyo.—Baron Kitchiro Hiranuma, Fascist-inclined president of the privy council and premier-designate succeeding the comparative Liberal, Prince Fumimaro Konoye, completed his cabinet with three new ministers.

Ichi Watanabe, minister of finance; Chiji Machida, minister of agriculture, and Yonezo Maeda, minister of railways, were the only new members of the government in the list presented by the 73-year-old Japanese nationalist whose powerful, behind-the-scenes backers thrust aside the retiring premier for a more authoritarian form of government.

Macuda, leader of the Minseito party, one of the major political parties of Japan, previously has served in numerous cabinets since 1926 as minister of agriculture and commerce and as acting minister of finance.

For Royal Visit

Ottawa.—Royal Canadian Mounted Police headquarters announced Assistant Commissioner C. H. King, director of criminal investigation, and Superintendent A. M. Kemp are being assigned to special duties in connection with details of the summer visit of the King and Queen.

Superintendent R. R. Tait, officer commanding the R.C.M.P. at Montreal, is being transferred here to succeed King as director of criminal investigation. Superintendent H. A. R. Gagnon will succeed Tait in Montreal.

Assistant Commissioner C. D. LaNoue, officer commanding "A" division here, will take over command of "F" division at Regina. Superintendent J. M. Tupper will take over command of "A" division here.

Italians Indignant

Rome.—Fascist indignation was fired by despatches in Rome newspapers describing the burning of an Italian flag by a crowd in anti-Italian "fests" at Tunis, capital of France's protectorate of Tunisia.

U. S. PRESIDENT GIVES WARNING TO AGGRESSORS

Washington.—President Roosevelt told the United States congress that while war had been averted last fall, world peace was not assured, and called for strengthened defenses "in the face of storm signals from across the sea."

The address, broadcast in the United States and around the world in seven languages, hinted at possible measures against aggressors.

"We have learned," Mr. Roosevelt said, "that God-fearing democracies of the world which observe the sanctity of treaties and good faith in their dealings with other nations cannot safely be indifferent to international lawlessness anywhere.

"They cannot forever let pass, without effective protest, acts of aggression against sister nations which automatically undermine all of us.

"Obviously they must proceed along practical peaceful lines. But the mere fact that we rightly decline to interfere with arms to prevent acts of aggression does not mean that we are not as safe if there were no aggression at all."

"In all, a weary country and a disillusioned people have been in a mood of drift, but there are signs to a great extent that the time has come when the attack must be basic, and much more than merely a matter of this or that relief policy or the relative allocation of funds and costs among the different units of government.

"The task of 1938 is to renew in the Canadian people their old-time drive, to convince them that even at its worst democracy alone accords with the instinct of freedom in our face and as such is abundantly worth saving."

For there sat Hans Thomsen, charge d'affaires of the German embassy, the man who recently received a stinging answer at the state department when he asked that the United States government apologize for anti-Nazi remarks made by Ambassador Stettinius.

In company with all in the big hall, Thomsen arose when the president entered. But he did not, as did his neighbors in the diplomatic gallery, applaud.

Addressing a joint session of the senate and the house of representatives, the president asserted "undeclared wars," "idle armaments" and "new aggression" threaten the three indispensable institutions in America—religion, democracy and international good faith.

Only through a nation united physically and spiritually could these threats be kept from American shores.

While giving notice that he would make recommendations in the course of a few days for "essentials of defense against dangers which we cannot safely assume will not come," Mr. Roosevelt warned of danger from infiltration of philosophies of force into the western hemisphere.

Mr. Roosevelt said that in the western hemisphere "we have, under common ideals of democratic government, a rich diversity of resources and of peoples from which together

And he warned: "That hemisphere, that peace, and that ideal we propose to do our share in protecting against storms from any quarter. Our people and our resources are pledged to secure that protection. From that determination no American flinches."

By far he did not mean that the American republics disassociated themselves from nations of other continents and he reassured "our historic offer to take counsel with all other nations of the world to end that aggression among them be terminated."

He referred to "events in Europe," where Czechoslovakia was dismembered at Germany's insistence, "in Africa," where Italy conquered Ethiopia, and "in Asia," where Japan has invaded China.

"All about us rage military and economic," Mr. Roosevelt said. "All about us grow more deadly armaments—military and economic. All about us are threats of new aggression—military and economic."

The United States would solve by democratic means problems that dictators solve "by main force" and by using force "apparently succeed at it—for the moment," the president said.

"Dictatorship," he declared, "involves costs which the American people will never pay."

Arabs Lose Heavily

Jerusalem.—A fight between British troops supported by Royal Air Force planes and an instant Arab force in the Jordanian port of Aqaba resulted in heavy casualties, but exact figures were not available. The soldiers captured a number of prisoners and a large supply of guns and munitions.

Study Electoral Changes

Has Been Chosen By French Women For Annual Contest

Toronto.—A short fiction story has been chosen by the Canadian Women's Press Club as the writing classification for its third annual members' memorial award, open to women in Canada, it has been announced. The award was established to encourage talent among women writers and to improve writing standards. Entries, in triplicate, must be sent to the chairman of the memorial award board, Miriam Green Ellis, 404 Kensington building, Winnipeg, with a covering letter bearing the writer's signature. The competition closes March 15.

URGE A STRONG FOREIGN POLICY FOR BRITAIN

BRITISH PUBLIC IS PLEASED WITH ROOSEVELT SPEECH

London.—Prime Minister Chamberlain acclaimed the sentiments expressed by President Roosevelt before the United States congress as fresh evidence of "the vital role of the American democracy in world affairs and its devotion to the ideal of ordered human progress."

David Lloyd George and other political leaders agreed with him in welcoming the address. Mr. Chamberlain interrupted a conference with Foreign Secretary Halifax to issue the following statement:

"Nobody who is charged with the heavy responsibilities of government could fail to be impressed by the solemn words with which the president of the United States greeted the elected representatives of the American people."

"In these islands, where there is so clear a realization that only through freedom and peace can we hope to maintain and develop for ourselves and those that come after us the benefits for which we have labored for generations, the sentiments expressed by the president will be welcomed as yet another indication of the vital role of the American democracy in world affairs and its devotion to the ideal of ordered human progress."

Mrs. Lloyd George said of Mr. Roosevelt's address: "It was a grand speech. I listened to every word of it with growing satisfaction and delight. If it is followed by action not only in home but in foreign affairs, it will be the opening of a new era for human freedom."

Clement Attlee, leader of the opposition in the House of Commons, said: "I welcome the president's message as showing that the Fascist menace to civilization and democracy concerns America as well as Europe and that liberty must be fortified by economic reconstruction to solve the problem of poverty in the midst of plenty."

Alfred Duff Cooper, former first lord of the admiralty, said: "It was a fine, epoch-making speech which put fresh heart into free people all over the world."

Sir Percy Harris, chief Liberal whip in the House of Commons, said: "While our prime minister has been bumbling with dictators, President Roosevelt is telling them that aggression must be terminated... It is now up to the premier to make this clear to Signor Mussolini when he visits Rome."

The German press scored President Roosevelt's defense address, charging it preached "hatred." The American officials studied the speech as one of the most important declarations coming from Washington since the Great War.

The democrats said it was a prelude to major changes in American foreign policy, giving particular attention to the possibility of revision of neutrality legislation.

Both the German and Italian press accused the president of playing domineering politics and of deserting the isolation policy of George Washington.

Some Soviet Russian newspapers, in brief summaries, emphasized points on preparations against aggression and the neutrality law but omitted remarks about the democrats and religion. There was no editorial comment.

The Liberal Manchester Guardian contrasted Mr. Roosevelt's declaration against "dictatorships" with Prime Minister Chamberlain's "timid exercises in the same field."

British foreign office officials clearly approved the address but indicated official enthusiasm might be "inconvenient" later in dealing with the dictators.

"I am convinced," said one spokesman, "and I think others here agree with me, that German influence has already passed us and that an attack in South America that any general war here would be the signal for a series of uprisings in South America, the object of which would be to keep the United States occupied at home."

The Paris press, both right and left, reported the speech favorably with long excerpts, emphasizing the prospect of neutrality law revision.

Wheat For India

Sailing With First Cargo Of Canadian Wheat To That Country

Vancouver.—The freighter Hoogh Carrick is preparing to sail for Bombay, carrying the first cargo of Canadian wheat ever shipped to India. Officials of the Canadian Grain Exporters' Association said they had orders for approximately 8,000 long tons of Canadian wheat for export to India this month.

THE LOCAL NEWSPAPER

Following is a short excerpt from an address delivered by J. T. Duthie, a weekly newspaper man, at the nineteenth annual dinner of the Canadian Woolen and Knit Goods Manufacturers Association held at the King Edward Hotel in Toronto on November 17th.

"All of the foregoing detail must have helped you visualize the function which the weekly newspaper performs. Briefly the good local paper is primarily dedicated to the service of the communities in which it circulates; to the promotion of what is for the good of the greatest number, nationally or locally, without fear or favor or bias, political or otherwise. Its news columns are given first of all to the news of the activities within the markets it serves, to the dissemination of news that neither dailies, which are widely read for day-by-day world events, nor radio nor magazines can give them the close-up, personal news items of the place they call home.

It must be obvious that the weekly newspaper has no desire to be sensational in its news content or presentation. It does not have to create a field of reading desire and interest; the interest is there ready to hand, in the desire of its readers to know of local happenings. Weekly publishers present their news pleasantly, of course, because they take pride in their product. In design and production care is taken to present a paper creditable to the community for in addition to its functions locally, it is the community's representative to the rest of the nation; the mirror in which is reflected to the world the activities and progress of its districts.

The weekly publisher must necessarily be a keen student of the market he serves and have an intense interest in the well-being of the industries, and other sources, that provide his revenue. He will be glad to assist in any reasonable way in promoting amicable relations and harmony, when the cause is just and not conceived in selfish motives. It should be remembered that he and he alone is responsible for material published in his paper, so make sure that any statement you submit can be substantiated as he may justifiably ask for authentication before allowing it to be published. Remember, too, that he is not as conversant with the textile business as you are, but is usually willing to learn." — Paris Star.

GOOD ADVERTISING

Here is the kind of unsolicited advertising which does one good to read. It is contained in a letter sent by a Cleveland business man who spent a fishing holiday in Ontario. He writes: "I wish to go on record that the most outstanding thing that came to my notice on my first trip into Canada was the consideration and good manners of the Canadians and the good accommodation found." — Niagara Falls Review.

Remember — it takes a month to fill an order for Counter Check Books. Don't wait until you are out of books, but check up your stock right now. The Enterprise can give you the lowest standard price and the best possible service.

NEWS FROM EDMONTON

(T. B. Windross)

Edmonton, Alberta. — Approach of the regular session of the Alberta legislature, which begins next month, is being heralded at the parliament buildings here this week by preparation of yearly estimates in the various departments and by a low hum among politicians themselves.

There are again rumors that this session is going to be notable at times at political fence-mending and much warmth of feeling, even outside the caucus. This may prove to be the last session before a provincial general election, or it is not the last, it is sure to be the next-to-last regular session. The members are beginning to think of how they can be re-elected, and whether they should try to campaign again under the Social Credit label.

The most burning question to members is whether they should allow William Aberhart to lead them again, even if he wants to. He himself has not been explicit on that question: A while ago he said that he might retire in a year, but last Friday at Olds he whistled in the dark, saying that if he did not get a majority of 54 seats in the next election, he would quit. Right now in the legislature he has a majority of only 41, including four Independent Social Crediters who are opposed to him.

New evidence that the whole Social Credit philosophy is changing, beginning now to talk fact instead of theory and vote-catching devices, can be seen in a recent leading editorial in the Ottawa Citizen which, although one of the Southern newspapers, always has been the leading Social Credit exponent in Canada, under the guidance of its editor, C. A. Bowman, who is probably closer to Major C. H. Douglas than is any other man on this continent.

He is also a friend of Aberhart. In fact, it was he who introduced Aberhart around the east back in 1935 and took him to see Father Coughlin. It was Mr. Bowman, too, who brought Hon. W. D. Herdige to Edmonton to see Aberhart a few weeks ago, with a view to a political alliance.

The Ottawa Citizen many times in the past has promoted Social Credit by attacking banks. Therefore, the recent editorial can be credited all the more, inasmuch as it gives the chartered banks of Canada their just due.

First it noted that in the past two years more than 108,000 individual loans, totalling more than $15,000,000, had been made through the "personal loan department" of just one bank, and similar amounts through other banks. In addition, there were, in just 11 months of last year, 106,000 borrowers who obtained regular banking accommodation in amounts of less than $500, the total sum so advanced being $16,168,000.

"While the great volume of banking business is, of course, in much larger sums, this service to borrowers of small amounts must be appreciated by many people in Canada," the Citizen's editorial said. "It should help the Canadian public to realize that the chartered banks are efficient. The recurring periods of breakdown in the capitalist machine cannot be attributed to weakness in the administration of the banks." The values of finance may need to be adjusted, but the reform has to come in monetary policy through the central Bank of Canada, without interfering with the ownership of the private banks.

"It is sometimes urged that the banks should be taken over by the state, as the Bank of Canada has been taken over. It should be quite possible to give Canada an effective measure of monetary reform, however, without bringing state ownership into this realm of private enterprise.

"It would be no remedy merely to appoint state committees to manage the banks in place of private directors. Actually there are no more effective executives available than the present administrative heads in commercial banking. They would be more efficient employed by the state than they are at present.

"It is doubtful whether the services given to the public through the banks, as in the case of small personal loans, could be as well handled under the control of state banking. There are some natural monopolies where it is obviously in the public interest to have state ownership, control and operation. There is no need for any departure in state banking. The government's responsibility is to control monetary policy through the Bank of Canada. The direct service of loans to the public can well be carried on through the existing banks."

The appointment last week of D. E. C. (Dan) Campbell, formerly news editor of radio station CFCN at Calgary, as public relations counsel for the provincial government is being regarded as showing that Aberhart, his cabinet and his supporters realize that the government's past policy of having its members attack the press and other institutions in an effort to gain public sympathy has not worked out. Mr. Campbell, an able newspaperman of many years' standing in Alberta, has been among those whom Premier Aberhart has criticized in the past three years, because he has reported facts which did not reflect to the government's credit. But when the government found that it needed a man in whom newspapers and the public would have confidence, it chose Mr. Campbell for the job. It also appointed an advertising agency to prepare advertising on behalf of the government, to promote the "treasury branches" first.

Mr. Campbell's appointment is one of the most practical and helpful that could have been made. The public and the newspapers alike will now have a chance of getting news about government happenings and accomplishments that is news. Part of the trouble in the past has been that Premier Aberhart, who has no more conception of what is or isn't news than a thirteen-year-old schoolboy, has expected and demanded that newspapers print what he wanted in his way regardless of its news value. Now with an experienced newspaperman in Mr. Campbell's post, there is an excellent chance for the public to get government news that is accurate and factual.

BELLEVUE HAPPENINGS

Mrs. C. W. Johnson and daughter, Marion, returned Saturday from Cranbrook, where they had been visiting Mrs. Johnson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Blinston.

M. D. McEachern, principal of the Bellevue school, was called to Edmonton on December 31st, owing to the illness of his mother. Mrs. McEachern passed away on January 1st, and the remains were laid to rest on the 4th. Mr. McEachern returning to Bellevue on Thursday. The late Mrs. McEachern visited Bellevue on several occasions, and made quite a number of friends here, who, with the rest of the community, join in sympathy with Mr. and Mrs. McEachern and son, Frank, in their bereavement.

Miss Lillian Price and Nurse Dorothy Barlass left by Monday afternoon's train for Rochester, Minn., where Miss Price will receive medical attention.

Elaborate preparations are being made in connection with the forthcoming curling bonspiel, which was to have been held commencing Monday next, but postponed to the 23rd.

Mrs. A. Derome returned to her home in Edmonton on Friday, after spending two weeks here with her father, brother and sisters.

FREEDOM OF THE PRESS

Back in the early 1900's counsel for safety in editorial writing was expressed in the sentence, "Say what you like about the Czar of Russia, but go easy on the boys at home." Editors who followed this sage advice gained a reputation for fearless writing and still kept their papers out of libel suits.

Judging from recent events, the old advice no longer holds good. The modern counterparts of the Czar of Russia are inordinately touchy about criticism of their policies. They seem unable to understand that actions which are unanimously supported by their own controlled newspapers may appear in a different light in countries where the press is free. So we get diplomatic protests from consuls and ambassadors when dictators' feelings are hurt.

At present, such protests appear only ridiculous to those who have been brought up in the democratic tradition; but they carry with them an insidious danger. It is that, if the protests are made frequently enough, some timorous democratic leaders may begin to recommend that their countries' newspapers, in the interests of peace, should avoid giving offence by denouncing what they hate.

A voluntary censorship of editorial opinion will accomplish the dictators' ends even more effectively than an official censorship. It is more destructive of the freedom of the press, but it preserves the form of freedom, while discarding the substance—The Printed Word.

McLachlan and Byrne are expected to take a course in silly spending, so they can give a good account of how they handled the public's $100,000.

HILLCREST HAPPENINGS

Jack Woods, of Edmonton, was a visitor over the holidays with his father, Rev. John Woods.

In a hockey game here on Saturday afternoon, the Blairmore Midgets defeated Hillcrest 4-2.

William Adam returned home from the Hillcrest hospital last week end.

A very delightful surprise party was held in the Catholic hall on Friday night last, in honor of Violet Casagrande.

Blairmore and Hillcrest intermediate hockey teams battled to a 7-7 draw on the local rink on Tuesday evening.

THE BETTER COURSE

The restoration of Alberta's credit is of importance to everyone in the province. More and more this fact will become manifest as time goes on. So it is a great pity that the provincial government had to default on a million dollars debenture issue due January 1.

While it may be true that the provincial government can finance without additional borrowings, the destruction of credit injures everyone in business who requires financing. Further, it prevents progress and expansion. The government can carry on by increasing taxation. The individual has no such preferred position.

Eventually Alberta will have to face up to her debts. Cuts in interest may be obtained, but no one seriously believes that this province can attain greatness or accelerate its progress and development until its debt situation is fairly dealt with.

"In vain we call old notions fudge,
And bend our conscience to our dealings;
The Ten Commandments will not budge,
And stealing will continue stealing."

If Alberta does not pay her debts, eventually it will simply be stealing. The fact that "big shots" may own a portion of the bonds doesn't mitigate the offense a particle—Brooks Bulletin.

Just about the biggest joke yet: Aberhart says that the demand for treasury branches is so great that it is just about impossible to keep pace with them. Abie knows better, of course.

The Duke of Connaught, for thirty-eight years a grand master of the Masonic order, in both the United Grand Lodge of England and the Mark Grand Lodge, has decided to resign, to be succeeded by the Duke of Kent.

Some business people in Alberta have been notified that their business phone rate is being reduced by 25 cents a month—$3 a year, for which they thank Abie, who is trying so hard to reduce phone rates to make it easier for everybody to pay increase of taxes.

COWLEY HAPPENINGS

Many friends here join in deepest sympathy for Mr. and Mrs. Charles Yagos, who lost their infant son of pneumonia on Saturday last.

On Sunday afternoon on Cowley ice, Todd Creek lost to Cowley in a score of 7-6. Cowley then lost to Lundbreck 1-0. Some fairly good hockey was dished up.

On Thursday night last Mr. and Mrs. Wilfrid Fortune entertained at bridge at their home, west of town, when Gillingham and Cowley met in a friendly game. The contest was close, with Cowley barely emerging winners. A most enjoyable time was spent.

Mr. Bayley, of the National Trust Company, spent several days in Cowley during the week, endeavoring to negotiate sales of lands occupied by Doukhobors.

Coleman Canadians will be hosts to the Lethbridge Leafs on Saturday and the Turner Valley Oilers on Monday.

Mr. Irwin, of Lethbridge, succeeds Mr. Shaw as relieving agent for Swift Canadian Co. in this territory during the convalescence of Mr. Ray of Fernie.

Oil magnates will be interested to know that two wells are being drilled in Blairmore, on the north side. So far little water has been encountered. Carl Anderson is in charge of one of the crews.

The marriage took place at St. Mary's rectory, Calgary, on Monday, of Miss Winnifred M. Drew, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Drew, of Flincher Creek, to Mr. Kenneth Dryden Mitchell, of Brooks. The young couple will reside in Brooks.

WANT TO BUY
a Printing Plant ??

NO, OURS ISN'T FOR SALE.

But you can buy its products—and that is a lot better than having a plant of your own—for,

Let's skip the Office (where we plan to keep our overheads from getting under foot)—since we are talking about the Plant, where

We have the most approved type setting equipment, well laid out for efficient working conditions; we have excellent presses in our Printing Department; we have binding facilities sufficient for the usual requirements, and access to specialty needs; we have light, airy quarters in which all of this equipment is housed—and more:

We have an organization of skilled craftsmen, who take keen delight in doing their work just a little better than you would expect them to do it—until you know them. Then you realize it is because they are in love with their art and craft.

WANT TO BUY THE PRODUCT OF SUCH A PLANT? That's fine. We will be glad to call and talk it over whenever you say the word. Phone 11.

Our Yield Per Acre!!

Well, Country Newspapers do not exactly calculate their yield by the acre, but like Farmers, they do have good and poor yields. Each subscriber to the newspaper business office is like an acre to a farmer. Sometimes they yield good, other times not so good. Dry weather, poor prices, hail and frost have their effect on our yield, too, and often we wait years before our returns come in.

In a short time (or whenever we do), we will be sending out notices to all subscribers in arrears, and we hope for a good response. We do not expect to get a good yield. All we ask is that subscribers treat us as generously as nature treats them.

Plan Working Out Well

United States Has Construction Camps For Unemployed Men

During Anthony Eden's recent visit to the United States he found opportunity to make a trip of inspection to one of the C.C.C.—Civic Conservation Corps camps.

There, he saw, according to his own statement, particularly impressed with the provision that had been made for care of men who otherwise would have been unemployed and perhaps homeless. He noticed especially the provision for their physical well being, the organization of social and educational groups, the order and the system under a reasonable amount of discipline.

Mr. Eden could not have seen anything like that had he come to Canada. He could have seen a goodly number of unemployed men. He could have heard how they move about the country as transients, riding on the freight trains as non-pay passengers, and trying to find a place to sleep. He could have seen the poverty they looked, lacking proper clothing, ill kept, often dirty and because of their experiences, in many instances, lacking hope or ambition.

Canada has failed so far in caring for this class of men. It has nothing comparable to the C.C.C. camps of the United States.

Visitors are beginning to take notice. More serious, the country is feeling the bad effects in a lowering of the standards of manhood.—Port Arthur News-Chronicle.

Always A Repercussion

Nothing Happens Anywhere In World Without Affecting Other Parts

Often it has been suggested that nothing happens anywhere in the world without having its repercussions elsewhere. Thus it is interesting to note the plant of the Australian wool grower and the increasing and perfection of certain industries in Great Britain and the United States is reducing the demand for woolen clothing. Nowadays, people are using central heating instead of Australian wool to keep themselves warm, and Australians find it more difficult to sell their wool.

"Where's your pencil, Alf?"

"Ain't got one, teacher."

"How many times have I told you not to say that? Listen: I haven't got one, you haven't got one, we haven't got one, they haven't got one—"

"Well, where are all the blinkin' pencils?"

Come to think of it, Mrs. Job must have had a lot of patience, too.

UNAWARE OF IDENTITY

Although wed for 17 years, Mrs. George Dietrich, wife of George Dietrich, official of the McKesson and Robbins Drug Company, was unaware that her husband really was George Musica, brother of the self-styled Philip Musica, alias F. Donald Coster, late president of the $87,000 drug company now in the news. Dietrich was held in $100,000 bail while authorities investigate the financial structure of the drug firm. Mrs. Dietrich lives in Fairfield, Conn.

Nova Scotia Amethysts

Provide A Revenue Of $100,000 A Year To Stone Hunters

Winter frost means more than just cold weather to one Bay of Fundy village. It may bring pocket money to amethyst hunters next spring.

With the thaw, the hunters will be on the prowl, the stones from the shore of amethyst quartz outcrop at the face of cliffs around the cave.

Cyrus Steele of Scott's Bay described amethyst hunting as a "catch-as-catch-can business," but he said sales of amethysts to tourists have increased ten-fold in the last six or seven years. Some of them find their way into brooches, lockets and rings, but tourists who drive along the North Mountain like to buy the unfinished rocks in which the amethysts nestle.

The only billboards the summer tourist see as they drive through the hill country says "Amethysts For Sale." W. R. Palmer, a jeweler in nearby Kentville, said the stones meant a $100,000 a year business in Nova Scotia.

There, however, according to his own statement, particularly impressed with the provision that had been made for care of men who otherwise would have been unemployed and perhaps homeless. He noticed especially the provision for their physical well being, the organization of social and educational groups, the order and the system under a reasonable amount of discipline.

Flowers From Africa

Shipment For Winnipeg Was Received In Good Condition

The National Revenue Review says S. Carrberry, superintendent, customs express branch, Winnipeg, advised the editor that an unusual item for the Christmas trade was a shipment of cut flowers which arrived in Winnipeg from the Union of South Africa. The flowers were in good condition when unpacked, after travelling over 10,000 miles.

The name of this plant is "Chincherinches" and is the native way of describing the sound of the striae of the flower's subtilis top. The name is now generally used for trade purposes. It is botanically known as "Ornithogalum" but the people of South Africa refer to it as "South African Wonder Flower."

These cut blooms will stay fresh from six to 13 weeks if the ends of the stems are clipped periodically, and they will continue to bloom during that time. The flowers are dainty clusters of waxy white on sturdy stems, with buds and full blooms on each stem.

If the walls of a room are built exactly straight up to any great height, they will be farther apart at the top than at the base, since plumb bobs point to the centre of the earth.

Nothing To Worry About

But Scientist Sees New York Under Water In Distant Future

A futuristic picture of a deserted New York, its streets under water and even its skyscrapers partly inundated, was drawn for the Geological Society of America at its semi-annual meeting in New York.

Such a thing might happen, said Dr. Arthur P. Coleman of the Royal Ontario Museum, Toronto, but it's nothing to worry about now.

Dr. Coleman explained that glaciers everywhere were in retreat, suggesting the world was slowly emerging from the pleistocene ice age which began about 1,000,000 years ago. Only about half the area covered by ice, he noted, has so far been set free.

He said when 6,000,000 square miles of ice are melted, he said, the level of the ocean will be raised about 150 feet.

"With a little imagination," he mused, "one can picture Calo or Rio Janeiro, seaports with high ground in the rear to which to retreat, as sending palatial holiday crusaders to see New York's deserted skyscrapers rising as steep walled rocks from a shallow sea."

"But the possibility of this taking place is so far in the future," he added, "that real estate owners need not begin to worry in our generation."

Dr. Coleman then painted another picture:

"It is not impossible that one more ice age may gather in London and slowly spread over Northeastern America, finally halting at Long Island to pile up moraines or stone heaps. Then New York harbor may once more be covered with ice floes, where seals and walruses are at home and white bears prowl for their prey as they did along the Atlantic coast 25,000 or 30,000 years ago." But this, he hastened to explain, is still farther in the future than the "big flood."

Gives Them A Chance

Democracy Offers Opportunity To Ordinary People With Unusual Talents

Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick said:

"Primarily, democracy is the conviction that there are extraordinary possibilities in ordinary people and that if we throw wide the doors of opportunity to all boys and girls who bring out the best in them, then, we will get amazing results from unlikely sources."

Shakespeare was the son of a bankrupt butcher and a woman who was nothing of name. Beethoven was the son of a consumptive mother, herself daughter of a cook, and a drunken father. Faraday, one of the greatest scientific experimenters of all time, was born over a stable, his father an invalid blacksmith and his mother a common drudge. Such facts as these underlie democracy. That is why, with all its discouraging blunders, we must everlastingly believe in it."

When Science Backfires

It Was Not So Good For A British Columbian Farmer

Science is a great aid to agriculture except when it backfires, says the Brandon Sun. Witness the case of the British Columbia farmer who cleared a hillside with his potato rows to keep the ground cool at night. He turned to too much juice which baked the spuds in the ground.

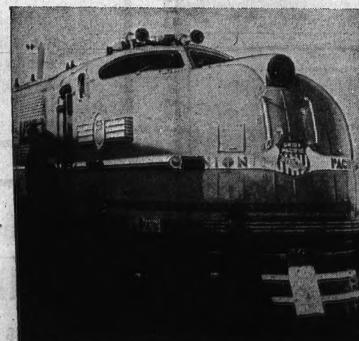

Crows attracted by the warmth settled between the rows, smelled the baked potatoes, dug them up and ate them. The farmer lost his potatoes, but has a bill for 1,000 feet of wire and another for excess electricity to remember them by.

There is a boarding house where S. said, none, but the brave can stand the fare.

The University of Naples, Italy, was founded in 1224.

Circus lions are given milkshakes to keep their coats glossy.

NEW STEAM-ELECTRIC LOCOMOTIVE

Hailed as the first of its kind ever built, a new 5,000-horsepower steam-electric locomotive has been put through its preliminary paces at Erie, Pa., by officials of the General Electric Company, which built the locomotive for the Union Pacific. The locomotive, capable of pulling a 15-car train 125 miles per hour, is expected to "revolutionize" railroading.

William McKay, of Nelson, has been appointed to succeed Leslie Carver as Pass district representative of Burns and Company Limited, and assumed his post this week. We understand Mr. Carver will in future work out of Calgary.

Jerry remarked the other day that they're erecting a fence, on both sides of which will be suspended a blanket, out of which a well known western Canada daily paper is to flop following or during the next provincial election in Alberta. It's been balancing on a fence for a long while.

Abie says he will quit the premiership of Alberta if he does not get support of at least 54 seats in the next provincial election. He in all his life had never made a bet so near the losing mark, and might just as well quit in the best interest of Alberta. He will be able to glory in the fact of having been the world's biggest joke in governmental administration.

During the past week we have seen two fully-developed butterflies. The first, on Friday morning, in the window of the F. M.
